

Lesson 15: Are mobile phones bad for your health?

THE CHRONICLE

MOBILE PHONES MADE MY HUSBAND ILL!

Local woman blames Mobile Phone Company for husband's condition.

Local woman, Frieda Jones, is waging a campaign against 'The Mobile Phone Company' since her husband has started to suffer from serious headaches.

"Ever since they put that mast next to our house six months ago he has never been right" said Frieda, 53. "He started suffering with his migraines about three months after the mast went up and now he sometimes struggles to get out of bed they are so bad."

Frieda's husband, Fred 57, works at a local business and has recently been promoted, but now he is struggling to do his job due to his ill health.

"My headaches are so bad I can't leave the house and have to sit in a dark room" said Fred, "I blame it on that mast".

'The Mobile Phone Company' told The Chronicle that their mast is perfectly safe and that there is no scientific evidence to support the Jones' claims.

A spokesman for the company said, "There is plenty of evidence to refute the claims that Mr and Mrs Jones are making. There have been no other complaints from their area and we will oppose any arguments made by them."

Mrs Jones has vowed to take the matter further and is looking for support from her family and friends.

She said to our reporter, "If anybody has suffered any health problems recently they must get in touch with me."

If people would like to contact Mrs Jones they should leave their details at the Chronicle offices.
